

Dear Mr. Strohmer,

I am writing to you to apply for the software engineer intern position advertised on LinkedIn. I have attached my resume and references to this email.

This position is very appealing to me, and I think that my skills and expertise would make me a great fit for this role. I am currently in my second year studying for a Computer Science and Engineering degree at the University of Bucharest. I have completed various personal projects working with technologies relevant to this position and I believe that my undergraduate coursework such as Data Structures and Algorithms, Object Oriented Programming, Databases and extracurricular activities have helped me develop a solid background relevant for this role.

During the last year I have picked up an interest in cyber security and have participated in numerous capture the flag competitions with great results, some among competitors who had many years of experience in the field. This has increased my ability to learn and apply new information efficiently since I had to work with vast technologies and concepts that I had never interacted with before.

I hope that my solid background and enthusiasm will make the difference and you will consider me for the position. I have attached a copy for my resume that will provide you with further information.

Thank you very much for your time and I look forward to hearing from you.

Regards,
Mihai-George Licu
